Dear Residents of Sardinia,

I would like to take time to thank so many of you for welcoming me into your homes as I am working my way throughout the town and campaigning door-to-door. This is the part of the campaign I really enjoy as I meet you and hear your concerns and ideas. You can be assured that I have taken notes on all of this, and if elected, will use them as a basis for my leadership.

In these tough economic times most of you have told me that our platform to lower taxes will help. I am happy to report that is a step closer to reality with the budget work session on 10/7/09. My opponent, after months of rejecting the proposal to pay resident's fire protection tax and proclaiming it illegal, now at election time is very willing to use this to her advantage as she once again "flip-flops" for political gain. I am delighted that my lower taxes campaign has finally convinced her to join in the idea.

I promise you that I will always try to resolve issues with my colleagues on the town board with professionalism and civility. I will work diligently for win-win conclusions that don't involve lawsuits. I find it disturbing that my opponent whose husband chaired the Zoning Board of Appeals that issued a controversial local variance that tried to override a decision by the New York State courts would be strongly against lawsuits. The Hannons have cost this town a bundle of "lawsuit" money and seem to have no ethical concerns about the obvious appearance of a conflict of interest that exists between their personal involvements in the excavation and gravel mining industry, and their decision to grant a hugely profitable variance to Gernatt Gravel. If I ever present even the slightest appearance of a conflict of interest, I will recuse myself.

I will promote Sardinia as a beautiful town and a fine place to live. I will recognize and honor the work of town employees and volunteers not vindictively attack them for political gain as my opponent has done throughout the nine months of her time on the Council. You can trust me to be an honest public servant for every issue. We can accomplish much more for you, the people, if we work together.

I thank you so much for your help and support as you "Vote for Good Government" on Tuesday, November 3.

Sincerely,
Sheila Vrenna
